Who is This Program Designed For?

- Motivated students or families who don't need a $1000 six week prep program. Turbo Tutoring is a one-time $150 fee. Just as it requires a minimal time commitment, the financial burden is much easier to handle as well.
- Students who are deeply involved and committed to various after-school commitments like sports, jobs, and other activities. Turbo Tutoring requires little in the way of time... a single 2 ½ hour session prior to the SAT.
- Turbo Tutoring will share all of the same information regarding strategy, approach, common questions/styles, and other test-taking tips that a longer program will, but is designed for students in an optimized setting. The target audience will successfully be able to take the skills learned at the session and apply them toward the SAT, as well as their everyday tests in various subject areas.
- Financially-conscious families who seek to give their child every academic advantage possible.
- Last-chance seniors who, prior to taking the SAT for the final time before they begin the arduous process of college applications, are trying to boost their scores just enough to get that competitive edge in northern Virginia.
- Prospective Thomas Jefferson or other magnet school candidates whose PSAT score is part of the selection requirements.
- Younger students looking to take advantage of the National Merit Scholarship Award, given each year based on PSAT scores.

What Will I Get out of This Program?

- Strategies and information on all of the sections of the SAT. Students will learn about the two English sections (Reading and Writing) and the Math component of the test.
- Students will gain valuable insight into the construction of the test, the most common types of questions, time-management skills, and other important details that will help them improve their scores.
- Advice on workbooks and other test-prep materials. Many families find themselves staring at endless shelves of SAT books, but few know which are the most valuable. Turbo Tutoring will provide you with a list of suggested reading selections to make your at-home practicing the most effective it can be.
